

WNTC

The campus radio station which is now in its 10th year is an independent, self-supporting organization which draws its personnel, totaling approximately one hundred, from both Clarkson and the State University Teachers College. Its program is twofold, first, to provide the students with the finest in enjoyable listening, entertaining, and second, to serve as a training ground in public relations, management, and radio engineering.

The station has had to move from its "home" because Potsdam State wishes to demolish it. Temporarily they have been housed in the old band room in Smith Hall. By next fall they hope to be in a permanent location.
